Discussion with Esther Dhanraj

Esther Dhanraj, born into a conservative Telugu Hindu Brahmin family, converted to Christianity when she was seventeen after her parents switched faiths. After marriage, she went to the USA and studied Christianity formally at a reputed American University. In this series, she describes her own journey from a blind faith Christian to an investigator, to an intellectual who discovered the hypocrisy of the pastors proselytizing in India. She reveals what she discovered that caused her to become an ex-Christian. She emphasizes the need for Indian Christians to be courageous and raise rational questions about their faith. She discusses her vision to create a support system for Indian ex-Christians to provide help to them. Video: 1, 2, 3

Discussion with Vandana Shiva

In this fascinating discussion, eminent environmentalist Dr. Vandana Shiva reveals to Rajiv Malhotra the truth about biopiracy and the digestion of Indian agricultural science. She explains how an international agrochemical cartel led by Monsanto, and the American Patent Office, is trying to manipulate the agricultural industry across Europe, India and the rest of the world. She explains her pioneering role in taking Vedic ideas of Ecofeminism to the West. Unfortunately these ideas have become digested into the Western feminism movement. They also discuss the Vedic origins of organic farming and how the indigenous Indore method got digested into western organic farming. Video: 1, 2, 3, 4

Cambridge Hinduphobia

Rajiv Malhotra interviews Dr. Mrittunjoy Guha Majumdar, a young Postdoctoral Scholar who shares his extraordinarily courageous journey of battling Hinduphobia at Cambridge University, United Kingdom. Mrittunjoy tells Rajiv about how a group of radical leftists, who in the guise of intellectual freedom are steeped in Hinduphobia and are involved in identifying, attacking and silencing voices of young Indian

Kashmir Memorial in Toronto

In this very important lecture at an Indo-Canadian Kashmiri forum in Canada, Rajiv Malhotra discusses the causes behind the Kashmiri Hindu genocide. He talks about the shame that Hindus have associated with their own 'victimhood' and how it has prevented them from telling the world about the wrongs done to them because of religious persecution against their community. He delves into the differences in historical experiences of the Punjabi Hindus and Kashmiri Hindus, and how that has shaped their attitude and response to Islamic aggression. Video.

Discussion with Dr. Oscar Pujol

In this very interesting conversation between Rajiv Malhotra and eminent European Sanskrit Dr. Oscar Pujol, they discuss whether certain Sanskrit words should be translated or left in their Sanskrit original even when used in another language. They also argue the digestion of Indian culture into Western frameworks, especially into Christianity. The discussion concludes on a potential area of collaboration with mutual interest. Video.

Conversation with Eduardo Andino

Eduardo Andino, a Christian conservative intellectual discusses with Rajiv Malhotra on ideology that brought Trump to power. He explains the American voters' revolt against liberalism, and the reasons for the rise of nationalism and protectionism in the USA. Rajiv also raises the issue that the Vatican has never apologized to Indians and Hindus for the atrocities committed in India, whereas the Vatican has apologized for past crimes against Africans, Native Americans, sexual abuse victims, and various others.
