World Bank Infiltrated by CRT | Ex World Bank Advisor Mohinder Gulati

Certain concerning developments come to light in this conversation between Rajiv Malhotra and former World Bank advisor Mohinder Gulati.

In 2021-end, the world Bank hosted a speaker series called Caste and Development. The speakers were from Equality Labs, a Hinduphobic organization whose activities have been discussed at length in Snakes in the Ganga, a path breaking book by Rajiv Malhotra and Vijaya Viswanathan.

The program went ahead with little modification despite pertinent issues raised by Gulati, such as the singling out of caste when there was discrimination everywhere including in the developed world. Its intended use, whether for removing discrimination within the bank or to define preconditions for lending wasn't clear. He also found a lack of data and analysis.

The bank generally takes a respectful position to local cultures and avoids thrusting any agenda on them, even in countries with no democracy and/or serious issues related to social justice, religious freedom or genocide like China, the Middle East, or Pakistan/Bangladesh.

It sets a dangerous precedent because bank staff can be influenced to interfere even when the bank doesn't have an official position on caste, and because the World Bank is a thought leader, so whatever it starts, spreads to other international institutions. Video.

Revealing Chinese Hijacking of UN with Ex UN Rahul Sur | CPEC-BRI

As a result of his position in the Office of internal oversight services at the UN, Rahul Sur was privy to information on its internal workings. In this conversation with Rajiv Malhotra, Sur provides shocking insight into the way China has managed to infiltrate the UN and use it for its own purposes.

The UN has certain sustainable development goals (SDG) that members agree will make the world a better place. China has managed to sell the idea that its Belt and Road Initiative (BRI) helps the UN achieve these objectives when it does the opposite. The Secretary-General unfortunately speaks China's lingo, as does the Department of Economic and Social Affairs (DESA), which has had Chinese leadership since 2007. Successive leadership by the same country is against UN protocol and it has helped China advance its BRI ambitions with the UN's official endorsement. It also allows China to annex territory and infrastructure in key geographies.

In this lively discussion, Malhotra and Sur come to the conclusion that India should use its position as the largest, most vibrant democracy to muster support from other non-aligned and/or democratic countries to restrain China and block its effort to wrest control over the erstwhile institution. Family the latest frontier for Wokeism
| Shobha Swamy Gen Sec. CoHNA

In this video, Shobha Swamy tells Vijaya Viswanathan how her two daughters came under Marxist influence.

She relates how she did everything possible to give them the environment, peer group, education material and cultural involvement that would help them lead dharmic lives. But somewhere between college and thereafter, Hinduphobic individuals/institutions like Suraj Yengde and Equality Labs got to them. As she says, this movement homes in on people that want to help society, providing them a platform for expression and recognition. In the process, they lose their own moorings.

This is the story of a mother who decided to fight back in her own way to form the Coalition of Hindus of North America (CoHNA), inform the Hindu as well as other communities, including councilors/other government officials and the public at large about Hinduism, its values, and the contributions of Hindu Americans to the country. Professional Texts in Indian languages
| with pioneer Ganesh Arnaal.

Rajiv Malhotra and Ganesh Arnaal discuss the pioneering work Arnaal has done to bring computing resources and STEM education in Indian languages. With education tools now being available and the NEP favoring professional exams in Indian languages, the stage is set for the next stage where the government could incentivize companies to hire these graduates.

Arnaal also points out that the lack of computer literacy is affecting India's competitiveness because other countries, including those in Asia, already have artisans and other skilled professionals who are computer literate.

This also has important implications from a civilizational perspective. As long as people are dependent on English for their professional success, they will continue to favor English education, creating a kind of caste system where the English speaking are the most privileged with the ones speaking no English being the least privileged. This is already killing our languages, and with it, our sanskriti. Arnaal's work is a very important step in the reversal of these trends and there will be further progress once Sanskrit is also used as the link language. Video.

Why Pandits lost Kashmir & what to do now | Kashmiri Pandit Conclave 2023

In this short speech at the Kashmiri Pandit Conclave 2023, Rajiv Malhotra explains how the separation of Kashmiri Kshatriyas and Pandits led to the downfall of Kashmiri Hindus. The attempt to separate Hindu from Hindutva is the same kind of mischief today, designed to render Hindus incapable of defending themselves.

Kashmiri Hindus have to get themselves established as a protected category of people who have been subject to persecution by a majority. He gives three examples/models that have succeeded at this. The first is the Dalai Llama who succeeded in protecting his identity by deeply influencing the centers of power in the West and converting some of these people using his soft skills. The second is Pan Islam, which is expanding rapidly through hard power. The third is African Americans who have made enormous progress on the back of Critical Race Theory and alignment with the global Left. Video.

Vedic Social Theory for Modern Bharat? | Varna Jati Caste

At the launch event of the important new book VARNA JATI CASTE, Rajiv Malhotra debates Prof Kapil Kapoor and Madhu Kishwar on the lack of Indian social thought in the curriculum. Rather than praising our own ancient society or blaming Westerners for their biases, he proposes the codification of Vedic social thought, representing structures going up to the level of the rashtra. Guiding Vedic principles regarding the state and its relationship with the polity would help us develop through a constitution based on our own civilizational ethos. Video.

IIT Roorkee and IIT Delhi leaders reject Harvard's attack | Battle For IITs

In this video, three esteemed alumni of the Indian Institutes of Technology join The Battle for IITs authors Rajiv Malhotra and Vijaya Viswanathan. The authors speak about how caste has become a stick to beat India with, whether it is in corporate life, or educational institutions, or in the society. The IITians strongly refute the claims made by Harvard scholars about caste discrimination in the IITs.

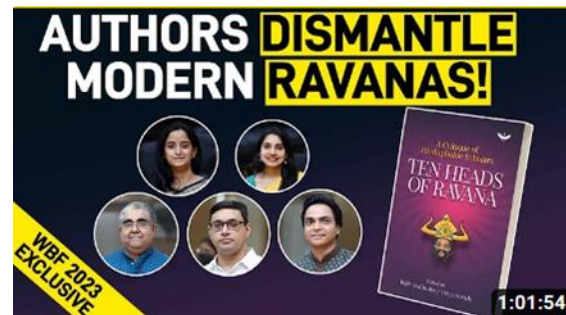

Lt General Vishwambar Singh, president of IIT Roorkee Alumni Association strongly endorses a merit-based road to progress. Being a product of merit, as an IITian, an army officer, and a sportsperson representing India, he points to the national security implications of an attack on IITs. He calls it an attack on India.

Professor V Ramgopal Rao, former director of IIT Delhi, founder of 2 startups, with over 480 published research papers and around 50 patents to his credit, talks about the challenges of reservation both in IIT students and faculty. He strongly refutes the claim that IITs were getting fat checks from the government, providing data to show that higher education in India was underfunded.

Professor Virendra Kumar Vijay, acclaimed in biogas technologies, chairperson of Indian Renewable Energy Development Agency at IIT Delhi was also part of the debate on reservations.

They conclude that the government needs to take a nuanced approach to foreign educational institutions and incentivize IITians to take engineering jobs in India to advance India's R&D. This requires a long-term plan and involves risk that Indian industrialists are avoiding. Video.
